

RCW 1.20.042 State fossil. The Columbian mammoth of North America, Mammuthus columbi, is hereby designated as the official fossil of the state of Washington. [1998 c 129 § 2.]

Legislative recognition—1998 c 129: "The legislature recognizes that the large, hairy prehistoric elephants of the extinct genus Mammuthus roamed the North American continent, including the Pacific Northwest, during the Pleistocene epoch (ice ages)." [1998 c 129 § 1.]