

OFFICE OF THE TREASURER
STATE OF WASHINGTON

Mike Pellicciotti

Public Deposit Protection Commission

2025 Report

November 1, 2024 – October 31, 2025

A report to the Legislature providing an update on recent events, responses, and issues related to modernizing and improving the protection of public deposits in the state of Washington.

Background

The Public Deposit Protection Commission (PDPC) was created by the Legislature in 1969 and is administered by the office of the Washington State Treasurer. The PDPC is comprised of the State Treasurer, Governor, and Lieutenant Governor.

The PDPC approves financial institutions to hold state and local government deposits (i.e., public depositaries) and monitors collateral pledged by those institutions to secure public deposits that exceed federally insured limits. Public depositaries may pledge securities or letters of credit.

Executive Summary

The Office of the State Treasurer is required by statute (Revised Code of Washington 43.08.300) to report to the Legislature annually any actions taken by the PDPC and the Treasurer regarding public deposit protection. Reports from 2019 to present are available on the PDPC webpage. Reports from 2018 and before are available upon request.

This 2025 report is an update on events and actions taken since November 2024, when the last report was published. During this period:

- Washington’s public depositaries continued to provide secure banking services for state and local government entities.
- No financial institutions serving government depositors were closed.
- Eight public depositaries were acquired by other financial institutions and remained public depositaries.
- One new financial institution was approved for its Washington branches to act as public depositaries.

As of October 31, 2025, 45 PDPC banks and 25 PDPC credit unions held about $10.2 billion in public deposits.

Deposits

As of October 31, 2025, about 3.2% of the $9.9 billion in public deposits at PDPC banks were insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), with the remainder protected by pledges of additional collateral. About 8.5% of the $341.1 million in public deposits at PDPC credit unions were insured by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), with the remainder protected by pledges of additional collateral.

Mergers and Acquisitions

The Washington Administrative Code (WAC) 389-12-130 requires that, in the event of a merger or acquisition of a public depository, the acquiring financial institution must be or become a public depository, or work with the PDPC to formally withdraw as a public depository. During this period, eight of Washington's public depositories were acquired by another institution and continued as public depositories. The dates of acquisition and involved financial institutions were:

The authorizations and terminations of the authorizations are formalized through resolutions. On April 7, 2025, four such resolutions were processed for the University of Washington:

- Resolution No. 2025-L1: Rescind authorization granted on October 23, 2018, by Resolution No. 2018-L26.

Public Deposit Protection Commission Meetings

Since the last PDPC annual report, the Commission met once on February 25, 2025. At the meeting, the Chair and PDPC Administrator updated the Commission regarding approval and termination letters issued by the Chair. The Commission also adopted two resolutions:

- Resolution No. 2025-1: Approval of a proposed new chapter to be added to Title 389 WAC and authorizing the State Treasurer to enter into the rulemaking process for certain draft regulations governing public records, through a new chapter to be added to Title 389 WAC.
- Resolution No. 2025-2: Appointment of the Office of the State Treasurer’s public records officer as the public records officer for the PDPC.

Looking Ahead

The Office of the State Treasurer will continue monitoring the changing conditions in public depositaries to ensure the safety and soundness of public funds on deposit at banks and credit unions in Washington.
